1. Throughout history, people of color (racial and ethnic minorities) have faced extra struggles (prejudice, discrimination, bias, injustice) in their quest for equality and success. (This is true even for Christians and among Christians.) What struggles have you experienced or witnessed in your life? How have you dealt with such incidents? What effect do you think these experiences have had on your life?
2. Wheaton College is committed to building a community of learning that is representative of the diverse faces of Christianity in our nation and the world. In what way do you think you could be a part of building that community at Wheaton?
