

Mock Interview Guidelines

Health Professions

Mock Interviews give applicants to a health professions school the opportunity to practice interviewing in a less threatening environment.

Value of doing the mock interview:

- You can process what you learned about yourself to improve for actual interviews.
- Feedback received will facilitate improvement of your interviewing skills and self-presentation.

Workshops reviewing Interviewing Strategies are held each fall. If you were unable to attend, contact the department for notes and resources from the meeting.

This is just one of the support services offered by Health Professions to assist you throughout this application cycle. If I can be of any support to you during this process, please contact me directly.

Mock Interview Format

- Interviewers: Faculty members of the Health Professions Committee or alumni community members in the health professions
- Simulation: Faculty will provide the interview setting of the school the student will interview
- Mock Interview length: varies, normally an hour total
- Feedback will be provided immediately on your interviewing skills and self-presentation.

Examples of Questions

- Why are you convinced this is the best health profession for you?
- What interests you about the program to which you are currently applying?
- What has been your most difficult obstacle to overcome in preparing for the health professions?
- What experiences have confirmed your choice of profession?
- What experience have you had with individuals who are underserved in healthcare?

Scheduling

You are welcome to contact the Health Professions office when you have been invited to interview with a professional school.

An online form to schedule the mock interview is provided on the Health Professions web site under Services. Contact the office with any questions.

The Health Professions office requests at least one week's notice to schedule a mock interview.
